Fr. Gilvary To Conduct Novena Beginning Today

Father Paul J. Gilvary, S.J., the Assistant to the President, will conduct this year's lenten services for the "Novena of Grace" in our Lady of Evergreen Chapel. The novena will begin today and continue until Saturday, March 12, with services being held at 4 in the afternoon and 7:45 in the evening.

Other members of the faculty who will deliver sermons at local parishes are: Fr. Murphy, who will speak at St. Clement's; Fr. Schaffner, who will speak at St. Ambrose's and Fr. Higgins, who will speak at St. Matthew's.

The novena was originally adopted as a nine day series of prayers in honor of St. Francis Xavier. It was Xavier himself who suggested the devotion to Father Mastrillo, whom Xavier had miraculously cured at the point of death.

Promise

Not only did Xavier recommend that services be started in his honor, but he also promised that it would be an efficacious means of securing grace. He said that all who would earnestly ask his intercession would infallibly experience the effects of his great power.

Background

Father Gilvary entered the Jesuit order in 1942, and, in 1945, was sent to Georgetown University as an Assistant to the Dean of Men.

After a year of Tertianship in New York, Father was ordained in 1951 and sent to St. Joseph's in Philadelphia. Later he was made director of promotion and public relations for the Mission Bureau, and in fall of 1959 he was given his present position.

Paul Cawthorne Receives Woodrow Wilson Award

Paul Cawthorne has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to Fordham University in New York. A history major, Paul will concentrate in the medieval period.

This will mark the third consecutive year in which a Loyola senior has been awarded a Fellowship of this sort to a college of his choice. Jerry Friese and Mike Kraus previously received the awards to Iowa State and Cornell, respectively.

An active man on campus, Paul is the treasurer of the Dramatic Society and the ASN, president of the St. John Berchman's Society, vice-president of the History Academy, and secretary of the Student Council.

College To Hold Debate Tourney

John Baynes and Bob Goldsmith have been named co-chairmen of the first debating tournament to be held here at Evergreen.

Schools Invited

Trinity College, American U., Navy, Catholic U., Morgan, Mt. St. Mary's, Georgetown College and Georgetown Foreign Service School are among those schools who will compete at Evergreen tomorrow.

Extemporaneous Topics

Three rounds of extemporaneous debates will constitute this particular tournament. The teams will be given their topics just one half hour before the debate begins and will be judged on the quality of the arguments they present.

In Appreciation

The Loyola team, the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society, is sponsoring this March 5 tournament in appreciation to those schools who have previously invited them to compete in their contests.

First Friday Mass Obligation To Return NFCCS Activity Dropped; NSA To Be Investigated

Last Friday witnessed an extreme unveiling of creative and destructive power on the part of the Student Council as it first voted to withdraw from the National Federation of Catholic College Students, and followed by re-instating compulsory attendance at First Friday. The conclusion of the meeting saw a motion passed to extend the Council's investigatory power to cover the National Student Association.

First Friday Falls

In a heated debate, marked by arguments for and against moral obligations, by the interjection of theological discussions of the amounts of Grace obtained by certain actions, and by the theories of student representation, the issue of First Friday Mass was thoroughly reviewed.

Acting upon the agreement made with the Dean last year (Fr. Hoggson), the Council moved to accept the failure of the voluntary experiment, and to reinstate compulsory attendance in accordance with that agreement.

The debate on the matter split the Council in half and resulted in a tie vote for the motion of senior representative Dick Keene. The tie was then to be decided by the Council President, Tom Dwyer. But before his decision was made there was a lengthy silence, during which the Parliamentarian, Ed Metzbow, suggested that a vote need not be made immediately. Mr. Dwyer, however, broke the silence with four words, "The motion is passed." With his vote the voluntary attendance experiment at First Friday Mass reached its logical end: extinction.

The decision by the Council was felt to have been inevitable by many students, noting the continual decrease in attendance at the affair through the past months.

In the resolution passed, however, the Council has requested the Dean to consider and approve certain new conditions attached to the compulsory attendance: (1) that the number of cuts given be changed from 2 to one; (2) and that the Theology cuts be raised from 4 to 5 per semester. The final resolution is before the Dean now, awaiting approval. When it is approved, the resolution will become effective September, 1960. No attendance will be compulsory this year save for the Mass of April 1, which has been requested by the Archdiocesan Committee for Vocations.

Earlier in the same meeting, the NFCCS quietly passed from the Evergreen campus. No eulogies were heard; no heated arguments (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Spot News

Shine 'em Up!

On Wednesday, March 9, at 3 in the afternoon, drill will officially begin for the second semester. It will last for eleven weeks, climaxing with the annual Queen's Review on May 11.

Present Situation

Thomas Curtis delivered a lecture to the International Relations Club (IRC) on Wednesday, March 2, on the topic "The Present Situation in Algeria: Hopes for Eventual Pacification".

The IRC is presently looking for a bookshelf. It has suggested that the Dean initiate a typewriter pool, which would be available to all the campus organizations for official business.

Alumni Banquet

On Tuesday, March 1, the Alumni held their annual banquet in the Student Center. The featured speaker was the Honorable J. Harold Grady, mayor of Baltimore.

At the banquet honorary membership in the Alumni Association was conferred on Mr. James C. Anderson, Chairman of the College Development Program. Also in attendance was Mr. Frank A. K. Boland, from Cambridge, Mass., a graduate of the class of 1894.

Martin F. Knott, a past president of the Association, received a plaque in grateful recognition for his outstanding service to the Association during 1958-59.

Scabbard and Blade

On February 22 in Cohn Hall fifteen junior ROTC cadets were accepted as members of Loyola's Scabbard and Blade Company.

Lunch Counter

In bar rooms and backyards, in classrooms and living rooms all over the country, the questions of civil rights looms larger and larger until now, after a hundred years sleep, it has once again emerged as a problem of a national and international importance. We have debated the issue with fairness and fact, with prejudice and fallacy, sometimes with passion, but secure always with the knowledge that when the debate ends, we can retire to our segregated bar, our segregated movie, and our segregated housing development. We can decide because these are problems of the South, not ours. Our people are happy, our people are content, we don't have riots or fights, we get along. But do we?

Last week, the Blue Jay restaurant was the scene of a sit-down strike similar to many occurring recently in the South. A group of students from Hopkins staged the strike in the hope that their fellow classmates would no longer be barred from eating with them simply because of their color. They were asked to leave. They failed to break down the color barrier of the particular restaurant, but they succeeded in their desire to make all of us aware of the problem.

The negro deserves integration not because he wants it but because he is the victim of injustice, and ironically, a victim at the hands of those strongest in their love and pride of a free and democratic nation.

The negro is as multi-sided as any man. He is good and bad, intelligent and ignorant, fat and thin, big and small. He must be judged — and treated — for his individual characteristics. To judge a man by his color is as futile as trying to distinguish a brave man by his size.

We have a moral obligation to tolerance and charity in our everyday life. It will be easier to judge the merits of a man if our vision is unclouded by color. And no trouble at all to have lunch with him.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

The author of last week's Short Snorts showed incredibly poor taste. His insights were faulty; his attitude was negative and not critical; his grammar was bad; his concentration on trivia was absurd. I do admire the élan with which he expressed himself.

Dear Editor:

Congratulations! Your review on the Jesuit One Act Play Festival was quite a shock: it said something. This is quite unusual for a paper so dedicated in printing uninformative tripe in the reviews of prior events, dramatic and otherwise.

The Greyhound Salutes Jim Molloy

The tables are turned. The Greyhound salutes the man who in the past ordered it to salute many of the prominent men of Evergreen, Jim Molloy, former Greyhound editor-in-chief.

This 23 year old senior and dilettante has compiled quite a record here at Loyola. Though handicapped by polio incurred at the age of eight, Jim has been active in many extra-curricular activities on campus and has acquired above average grades at college.

He did not wait until he came to Evergreen to participate in school activities. When he graduated from Loyola High School in 1954, Jim had been active in many organizations there and had been vice-president of his freshman class, vice-president of the debating club, and vice prefect of the Sodality.

After his graduation Jim left for Wernersville and the Jesuit novitiate. He studied at Wernersville for a year and a half, and when he left, enrolled at Loyola College.

It did not take Jim long to become active in the college activities. He joined the Greyhound staff, the Music Club, the Dramatic Society, and the Physics Club, the St. John Berchman's Society, and L.I.T., and soon became an officer in each of these clubs. His college career was climaxed when he was named to the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Joining L.I.T., a club for English majors, was unusual for Jim, a Physics major. When asked why he majored in Physics, he replied that Physics is the most basic science and, being interested in science, he wanted to further his knowledge in this field. Another reason he gave is that he is interested in philosophy, and he reasoned that to become a good metaphysician he should first be a good physicist.

Jim hopes to work in the field of science in graduate school and also he would like to study the history and philosophy of science in graduation school. This, he feels, would broaden his scientific knowledge and prepare him for his work in scientific writing.

Jim Molloy

the Watchdog

The Loyola Company of Pershing Rifles so impressed the other representatives at their meeting last Saturday, that they were genuinely disappointed to discover the fact that Loyola would be unable to furnish any future meets with tanks.

Occasionally our classes in the Dell Building are interrupted by the sweet sounds of a sick jeep engine being reved to full capacity.

Unfortunately the usual Wednesday ROTC lecture was cancelled this week. This might explain the sad looks on the faces of some of the underclassmen.

Our sympathies are with Joe Curran and Tony Torba, who did not find their cars where they left them. The Dean says he is sorry to have to take such serious action as having the cars towed away, but he doesn't look sorry Joe was planning on trading in the car but due to the fines, he finds that he has too much money tied up in it to sell it.

All our literary fans should be sure and see the movie, now showing at the Charles, entitled "Four Hundred Blows."

Since the only way we can be by your letters, we appreciate know how we are being received hearing whatever is on your mind.

Is there any logical reason why we should be forced to view those repulsive empty lockers in the Science Building basement each day?

To Mole Vitrano, whom we promised to remember in this week's Watchdog, "Hello there, Mole!"

To those who accuse us of maliciously stigmatizing without regard to veracity we can only say, "Huh?"

Letters Cont.

Loyola, need more of this free, forward, unabashed criticism; BUT, try not to imitate R. H. Gardner, and please mention the fine points of a play: Scranton's play was much better than the reviewer thought it was.

One thing that was sadly neglected, however, was the way the entire audience was hit by the Christ image in Georgetown's offering, "Man on the Road". Personally, I am truly sorry that I did not bring my rosary.

But still, the review was good. Why?

Because it was fresh and damn creative.

Again: keep up the good work, don't let us down on the next thing.

Dear Sir:

Recently the Student Council voted to absolve the NFCCS. This event illustrates the influence which the Council has begun to exert upon student life. In view of this fact, it is important that the students assume a responsible attitude towards student government. If the voters elect those candidates who are capable of doing the job, then the influence of the Council upon the students will be advantageous to all.

First Friday Mass Obligation To Return

were thrust out for its defense; it had ceased to serve its function.

When the NFCCS dues were increased from $70 to $350, the Council set up an investigatory committee to examine the merits of continuing in the organization. Two weeks ago the Committee reported that the functions of NFCCS were being performed by our own organization, and that no benefit was ever received from the NF Convention. In view of that report, the Council considered the payment of any further, higher dues an unnecessary waste. The motion to absolve Loyola's affiliation with NFCCS was unanimously approved.

Before adjournment, another committee was appointed by the Council President to investigate the activities and value of NSA on Campus. Paul Cawthorne will head this committee. The progress of power is rapid and devastating.

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways:

Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world.

We lean to the latter interpretation.

Wrestlers Lose Close Encounters In Mason-Dixon

Loyola dragged in seventh with a total of eighteen points in the Mason-Dixon Tournament last Saturday at Gauladet College. Things did not go our way in that some of our best men were knocked out by one or two points.

Close

Bill Iampieri was decisioned by Possident of B.U., who was a gold medal winner, by only one point in the preliminary match. At the end of nine minutes Tom Iampieri and Haynie of Hopkins were tied. After an overtime of two two-minute periods Tom was decisioned by two points. Both these lightweight matches were fast moving and expertly wrestled.

Referee Decides

Charley Carey came as close as you can come to winning his semi-final match, but lost it by a referee's decision in overtime, "by an eyebrow", in the words of the referee himself. The morale of the team took a great dip at this unexpected loss. Charley had been seeded and the team expected him to take first or second place.

Fourth

Mike Garrett took fourth place in the tournament. He will be a good experienced wrestler next year and great things are expected of him. Bill Iampieri also came in fourth, missing third place by a very slim margin of two points.

Parr In Finals

In the semi-finals Buck Parr decisioned Ray Reinhardt of Catholic University by a score of 13-6. In the finals Buck finished second.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By ROL STURM

Greyhound Sports Editor

For Basketball, swimming, and wrestling teams the M-D Tournaments mark the close of the season. This year teamwise the Hounds did not fair very well. The aqua-Hounds provided the only respectable finish by copping second place in the swim tourney.

Outstanding Individuals

Ken Freimuth, Marty Pilsch, and Bucky Parr were individual standouts for the Hounds. Freimuth and Pilsch were the leading individual point getters in the M-D Swim Tournament, each registering 16½ points. Parr went to the finals in the 137 lb. class in the Wrestling Tournament, but bowed out on a 5-2 decision to Ralph Edgar of Western Maryland.

B-Basketball

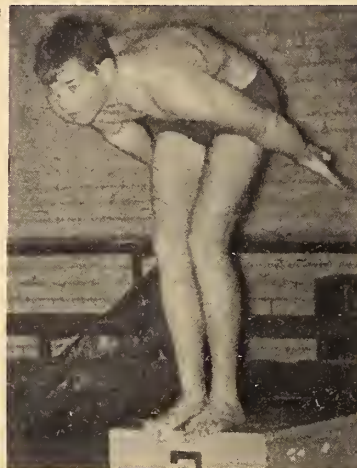

Loyola's B basketball team finished the season with a 6 and 9 record. Although this record is not particularly impressive the team, nevertheless, has shown signs of producing some outstanding prospects for the Hounds next year.

Schu Leads Scorers

The B-Hounds had three players who averaged in double figures. Bob Schu, a product of the Philadelphia high schools, led the scorers with a 13 point average. John Killen, from St. Joe, and Tony Rivezzo, a New York product, were next in line with 11.1 and 10.6 point averages, respectively.

Spring Sports

The Lacrosse team and the Track team, have begun their preparation for the coming season, and anyone interested in participating in either sport is urged to come out. Experience is desired but not necessary.

Hounds Toppled By Single Point In M D Tourney

Ass't Sports Editor

Pete Cook

Loyola's hopes of copping the M-D crown went down the drain last Thursday by a 65-64 defeat at the hands of Catholic U.

Led At Halftime

The Greyhounds went into the second half with a good chance of winning, but fell before the Cardinals rally.

The Reitzmen held a 30-27 half-time edge and increased it to 10 points after six minutes of the second half. It was here, however, that the host club began snipping away at the lead.

With their Tony Carroll and Gene Jasper setting the pace, the Washingtonian's swept ahead and fought off a last-ditch rally by the Evergreeners.

Heagney Leads Hounds

The team was led in the scoring column by John Heagney, who just missed top honors to CU's Carroll with his 18 points. Mike Sneeringer added 16, and Tom Gray, substituting ably for Ed Murn, netted 10.

Final Statistics

Heagney finished as the leading scorer for the Hounds with an average of 14.7. John also led the regulars in field goal percentage with .431 while picking off 92 rebounds.

The other double figure producers for the season were Joe O'Hara (13.4), Mike Sneeringer (12.8), and Ed Murn who averaged 10.4. Murn took rebounding honors, pulling down 226 while O'Hara followed with 178.

Steve Bogusky, who had trouble at the beginning of the season, finished with the starting five and averaged 7.4. Freshman Phil Potter came through in a sub role while averaging 3.2.

American University's powerful swim team piled up 91 points in the process of emerging to their third M-D Swimming Tournament Championship in a row. The Hounds took second place with a total of 62 points, while Roanoke and Catholic University finished third and fourth in that order.

Pilsch and Freimuth

The Hounds, however, provided the scoring leaders in the persons of freshman Marty Pilsch and Ken Freimuth. Both Freimuth and Pilsch countered 16½ points.

Coaches Record Broken

Freimuth was a real standout for the Hounds as he set two new conference records. He set meet records in the 200 yd. breaststroke with a time of 2:34:1, which topped the former mark which had been set by Don Mudd of Catholic U. with a time of 2:36. The other mark which he shattered was in the 200 yd. butterfly with a time of 2:35:7. This was seven and three tenths seconds faster than the old mark of 2:43 which had been set by Bill Klarner of Loyola.

Pilsch Wins Long Ones

Marty Pilsch, the other freshman standout, registered first in the 220 and 440 yd. freestyle events. In the 220 yd. event his time was 2:31:11, while in the 440 his time was 5:33:1.

Hounds Second In Relays

In the other events, the Hounds placed second in the 400 yd. medley relay as well as in the 400 yd. freestyle relay. Pete Powley placed third in the 50 yd. freestyle and fourth in the 100 yd. freestyle right behind his brother Seeley who placed third. Aside from Ken Freimuth's two firsts, we also took fourth in the 200 yd. breaststroke, second in the 200 yd. backstroke, and were also second in the 200 yd. individual medley.
